

SYSTEM OF TRANSLATION

1. The first step in the translation process is to identify the source language and the target language. This is done by examining the text and determining the language of origin and the language into which it is to be translated.